DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In reference to Claim 2

Lines 2-3 refer to “the holder”. This term lacks antecedent basis in the claims.

In reference to Claim 3

Lines 1-2 refer to “the holder”. This term lacks antecedent basis in the claims.

Line 2 states “the holder is C-shaped”. “C” is a letter which can have many forms depending on, for example, font, handwriting, etc. Therefore, the term is deemed indefinite. For purposes of examination, the limitation has been interpreted to include any structure which could be reasonably deemed to correspond to a “C-shape”.

In reference to Claim 4

The claim is indefinite by virtue of depending from an indefinite base claim.

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 3736

4. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claim 1 recites the limitation “a grip part fixed on the rear end of the bridge element and turnable to rotate the cannula” [emphasis added]. The originally filed disclosure does not support that the grip part is attached to the cannula such that it can be used to rotate it, and in fact, pg. 4 of the specification appears to suggest that the cannula can freely rotate within the bridge element, by stating “connecting bridging element 6 enables a smooth rotation of the blood-collecting device with a cannula 3 inserted with its tip 4 into a vein”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Pat. No. 5,092,461 to Adam et al. (“Adam”).

7. Adam discloses:

In reference to Claim 1

A blood-collecting device (see Fig. 4) capable of use for newborn babies and infants (the claim terminology is deemed a statement of intended use of which the Adam device appears capable), the device comprising: a cannula (N) having a blood inlet (NT) and outlet (NA); a bow-shaped bridge element (10) having a front end (14) in which the cannula is fixed (see Fig. 8) and a rear end (11) defining with the front end a free space, the cannula outlet being exposed between the ends in the free space (see Figs. 4, 5); and a grip part (42) fixed on the rear end of the bridge element and turnable to rotate the cannula (because 10 is clamped to BL).

In reference to Claim 2

The device defined in claim 1 (see above) wherein the cannula defines an axis and the front end and rear end of the holder lie on the axis (see Fig. 5).

In reference to Claim 3

The device defined in claim 2 (see above) wherein the holder is C-shaped (see Fig. 2).

In reference to Claim 4

The device defined in claim 2 (see above) wherein the grip part is centered on the axis (all of 10 including 42 is centered on the axis at least in a direction radial to the axis).

Response to Arguments

8. The substitute specification and marked-up copy received 11/10/2009 have been received and appear to be in condition for entry.

Art Unit: 3736

9. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
